Privacy Snakes & Ladders

Play this game to learn how to make smart privacy choices.

Ladders

10
Yay! A grown up you trust helped you to make a password.

19
Great! You told your parent that you don't play a game anymore. Now they can delete it.

31
Good job! You told a grown up someone was being mean to you online.

35
You checked with a parent or guardian before buying a game online.
Snakes

21
Oh no. You shared a picture of a friend without asking them if it was ok.

29
You used a phone that is not yours without asking.

41
You shared a password with a friend. That's not a good idea!

47
You used your real name to play a game online. (It's better to use a make-believe name.)

How to Play

You need a game piece for every player and a die.

1. The person who most recently did something to protect privacy goes first.
2. Take turns rolling the die and move your game piece forward that number of spaces.
3. If you land at the bottom of a ladder, skip ahead.
4. If you land on a snake tail, slide back down.
5. You must land exactly on the last square to win.

If you're worried about something you see online, or have questions about how to protect your privacy, talk with an adult you trust.

Kids go online earlier in life than ever before – which means that parents and guardians should start talking about the digital world and online privacy much sooner than they used to. We created this activity sheet as a fun way to get the conversation started.
